

To Correspondents.
The poetry handed us by a young woman of Carmel, although of some local interest is not of that general character or that exquisite finish that will entitle it to general circulation. We decline publishing, and as requested by the fair author, hand it over to our neighbor of the Democrat.
The article of "W. H." post-marked "Tallahassee, Fla." is inadmissible, both on account of its personality, and the absence of any responsible name or reference.
Our young friend "C. H. F." has sent us some very fair whig songs which we may by and by publish, but, at present, there are so many excellent songs, we are sometimes almost inclined to fill our columns with them.

The Belfast Advocate, the new democratic paper in Waldo, sticks sharp thorns into the sides of its party for their long continued opposition to manufactures in this State. The editor, after making a contest between the whig policy of Massachusetts in encouraging manufactures, and the loco policy in Maine, of exciting prejudice against them thus speaks:—"The warfare, which has been carried on in this State against manufactures, is anti-New England, and anti-Republican; alike ruinous to our highest interest, and repugnant to the fostering care and liberal principles of genuine democracy. The senseless cry of "down with manufactures," is supposed, by some, to be democratic; but it is not. It may be, yes, it is, the democracy of the little knot of Waldo's dictators and their family Journal; but it is not the democracy of the people, nor the democracy of the honest and sensible men of our party. This cry comes from the barren head of ignorance—from the corrupt and pestiferous heart of selfishness, to frighten weak minded men from the line of their true interest. It is the screech-owl cry of darkness—the key note of ephemeral demagogues, who look for promotion in an inverse ratio to their sense and decency; and he who harps upon this key, in our State, is either a knave or a fool."

The Lowell Courier says that the portrait of Mr Webster recently taken by Mr Lawson is admirably painted and is one of the best likenesses of this distinguished citizen that has yet been taken although many attempts by artists of celebrity have been previously made
We rejoice that our old school mate and play fellow, Thomas B. Lawson has been thus successful in conferring upon Lowell, the city of his adoption, the best likeness of Daniel Webster. Drawing was a passion with Lawson when a boy, and it is with profound pleasure we hear of his success in a department so consonant with his taste and to the relish and almost the practice of which he seemed to have been born.

We have received the first number of a Van Buren paper, entitled "The Vindicator," W. D. Gould, editor and proprietor, published at Skowhegan, and appears, for the most part, to be a reprint of the Clarion. It is a seven by nine concern, has upon its first page a portion of Kendall's blasphemous tract, and on the inside declares that "from one end of the land to the other the editor has the most cheering accounts of the union, harmony and prosperity of the democratic party." That's the sort of intelligence the readers of the Vindicator are to have dealt out to them.

Rail Road Accident.
The lumber train from Whitneyville to Machias Port, on Wednesday last encountered an obstacle on the road, which not being seasonably discovered, the engine and tender were thrown off the track and considerably injured.
The engineer and fireman were injured, but not seriously, they being able to be out the next day.

The Belfast Journal the Van Buren organ, of "bleeding Waldo" is a very amusing paper. The leading editorial article this week labors to prove that all the rumors of distrust in its party as to the policy of nominating Mr Van Buren are to be ascribed to the letter writers of Whig papers. Before the writer gets through however he is forced to admit that there is a plot on foot against Mr Van Buren and after scribbling a long homily upon the subject advises its readers only to believe about one thousandths part of what they hear about dissatisfaction!

A mammoth cave has been discovered in Talladega county, Alabama. It is situated four miles east of Reymulga ferry, on the Coosa, and thirty five miles above the turnpike. A number of human bodies have been found in it. The cave is filled with bats.
Old Hyson.
This is the title given to the Whig candidate for Vice President, by some of the Locofoco papers. The Lowell Courier says this suits to a T. Old Hyson and had to take

The Petersburg (Va.) Republican, a Locofoco paper, speaking of Amos Kendall's tract, says: "It is unnecessary to ask us to publish the tract on Henry Clay's duels, or the entitled 'Providential Dispensations.' The one is ungentlemanly—the other blasphemous."

Henry Clay was in Washington on Saturday last and was expected to leave in a few days for his home. Mr Clay was present at a social meeting of his friends on Friday evening, and appeared in most excellent health. The Whigs in Washington appear to be rejoicing, while their opponents are quarreling more with each other than with the Whigs.

The greatest discovery of modern time is that made by Rev. Joshua Leavitt, viz.: that Theodore Frelinghuysen is a New Jersey slave holder!

We have been politely shown a letter received by a gentleman of this city from Matanzas, under date of May 1st. Of Molasses it states there is none to be had, the drought had prevented its being taken in from the country. Nor is there much in the country. Sugar is in good demand. White pine boards are quoted at $17 to $18. Shooks box, 69 to 75 cents.

Kenduskeag Bridge.
To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:
As one of the citizens of Bangor interested in the public welfare I thank you for calling attention to the condition of the Kenduskeag Bridge and particularly for publishing at length the report of the committee to whom the subject was referred.
As it is probable that some action will be taken upon the subject by the Council I would propose that first of all there be a complete and thorough examination by competent Engineers and that they report definitely and fully upon the subject after mature deliberation and a careful examination of the expense of the various feasible methods that suggest themselves.
We have suffered quite enough in Bangor individually and publicly, from neglecting the duty of thorough examination careful estimates and the use of correct plans. Let our past experience be a warning for the future. We are well furnished with men of science and experience to give the public the necessary facts and directions relative to the Kenduskeag Bridge. A survey by Mr Samuel Nott, Capt. Wm. Parrott, Mr George Savage and the Mayor would result I have no doubt in the conclusion that partial repair at the expense of a few hundred dollars is all at present absolutely necessary. Or it rebuilding be necessary their report will give confidence to the public, both as to the necessity and the best plan of effecting it.

Entertaining these views I have thought it might aid the object you have in view by sending them to you for publication.
An Old Citizen.

Late from Buenos Ayres.
The British packet of March 9th states that an affair took place near the Cerro on the 26th of the previous month, which resulted in favor of the invaders, "the Montevideans being driven back with immense loss," which probably means a dozen or two. The invaders had 3 men killed and 31 wounded.
A scouting party of 120 Montevideans, commanded by Miguel Baez, were, according to the same paper, cut to pieces on the 29th, leaving upwards of 70 men dead on the field.
Some Americans having plucked some fruit without permission, complaint was made to Rosas, who ordered them to be imprisoned for three or four years, but upon the interference of the commander of the U. S. sch, Enterprize, they were released.

The crew of the United States ship Constellation, recently arrived at Norfolk from the Pacific, have published a card in the Norfolk papers, thanking Commodore L. Kearney for his good usage to them while under his command, in a cruise of forty-two months round the world. The card says:

"Of all the ships bearing the American flag, we do not hesitate in saying that the Constellation was the happiest ship that ever left the U. States; owing to the mild mode of discipline adopted by her commander. In him, and only him, are we indebted—not forgetting, however, the Fleet Surgeon, Rapalye, and Assistant Surgeon Greenow, for their kindness to those who were unfortunate enough to require their medical skill."

There was a noble gathering at the meeting of the Clay Club last evening, and an enthusiastic reception given to Moses L. Appleton Esq, one of the delegates at large from this state to the Baltimore convention. He gave a thrilling account of the convention and the present union and prospects of the Whig party.

Fire in Waterbury, City.
The extensive Rolling Mills, Wire Works, Pin Factory, &c. of Messrs Brown & Elton, in the village of Waterbury, were destroyed by fire early on Tuesday morning last.

The Eastport Sentinel states that a boat containing five men, while crossing from that place to Lubec, on Sunday last, was capsized and two of the men drowned.

There is to be a special meeting of the City Council this afternoon at three o'clock.
